MR. CLEMENT MUST PAY $1,000.

Libel Suit That Has Stirred Vermont Ends at Burlington.

Burlington, May 7.—The United States jury which has been hearing the $20,000 libel suit brought by Samuel D. Wilson against Percival W. Clement, former candidate for governor, and now candidate for gubernatorial nomination, Saturday returned a verdict in favor of Wilson and awarded him $1,000 damages. The plaintiff alleged that Clement had publicly called him a murderer. The libelous remark was said to have been made by Clement in a local option campaign speech in 1901, after Wilson had shot and killed Edward Goshen at White River Junction while acting as a detective for prohibition interests. Wilson was indicted for manslaughter, but was acquitted on a plea of self-defense. A trial of the libel suit in 1904 resulted in a verdict for Clement, but the finding was set aside by a higher court on the ground that two jurors were disqualified.

LARGE NUMBER GREETED HIMNew Pastor of Presbyterian Church Begins His Work*A SERMON ON "PRAYER"

Rev. W. C. MacIntyre Held the Closest Attention of His Audience Yesterday Morning and Gave Helpful Sermon.

At the Presbyterian church yesterday the Rev. W. C. MacIntyre delivered his first sermon as pastor of the church. A large congregation greeted him and gave him its closest attention throughout the excellent sermon.

Mr. MacIntyre took for his subject, "Prayer," and said in part: "Prayer to thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which is in secret shall reward thee openly. Prayer has been called the inspiration of the Christian life. According to the teaching of Christ, there is no more important duty exercised by the Christian life than prayer. As the source and secret of

DYSPEPSIA

Dr. Greene's Nervura, Sovereign Cure.

Starvation is the right name for weakness, because all strength comes from food. Many people eat great quantities of food and get little benefit from it because their stomachs are disordered. Others cannot eat. How frequently you hear them say, "The very thought of food nauseates me!"

Regulate your stomach at once with Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Get the benefit of your food. Get the appetite for it. Get the strength you are entitled to. Get it by natural, honest, healthy means.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the absolute cure for stomach troubles. Thousands on thousands testify to its marvellously effective work. Take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy this spring, for now of all times it is most dangerous to neglect your health, and the system is always made strong and vigorous by this perfect spring medicine.

Remember the great advantage of having your medicine put up by Dr. Greene, a regular practicing physician, who guarantees his Nervura and will stand behind it at all times. Dr. Greene himself will give free consultation and advice, personally or by mail, at his office, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., to all who use Nervura, or contemplate its use.

the life of the body is the breathing in of the life-giving qualities of the air, so is the secret of the life of the soul in the taking into one's heart of the life-giving qualities of the Father, which may be done only through prayer. In the Christian life the question is one of life and not formalism. Life is a living, God-given gift. Just as in the life of the body it is not a question of how much air there is about us—there is a plenty of that—but it is whether or not we use any of that air. When a friend is at the point of death we hold a mirror before his face to see if any moisture gathers there, for if there does we know that there is breath, and if breath, then life.

"So in the Christian life it is not a matter of how much inspiration comes from the Father, but of how much of that inspiration we take into our hearts. If there is no prayer, then there can be no Christian life. If there is no prayer in a family, then there is no life in that family. If there is no prayer in a church then there is no life in that church. If there is no prayer in a city, then there is no life in that city. Much prayer, much life; no prayer, no life. Men should never fall to pray," Christ said.

"Prayer is very easy in theory, but though simple in theory it is more difficult in practice. Every boy in the congregation remembers when he knelt at his mother's knee and thought that the most sacred place on earth. Although he now remembers the words he said there, yet in many cases the words have now no meaning. No time is left to commune with God now. There is time enough for conversation, with business men, and for the carrying on of business, but there is no time for communion with God. Some think that Christian words are the highest form of prayer. God's words are grand, but there are no good words without prayer. Prayer is inspiration, and the dawning into our minds of the power and ideas of God. There is no way of getting God into our hearts except by drawing him there by prayer.

"We want to see in what relation we stand to this subject. The reason why prayer is not practiced more and not enjoyed more is because of our ideas of God. The text said: 'Pray to thy Father. If there is nothing beyond the visible things of life, then there is nothing to pray to. In scientific studies God is often spoken of as force. Sometimes we find people who think God is only a force. If God is only force, then there is no use in praying. It is senseless praying to blind force. What sense would there be if a man in danger of being swept over Niagara Falls should pray simply the force of the fall to save him? What use is there praying to these forces? God is force; He is power. But He is something else. Some think that He is only mind. By some whose minds have been greatly developed, God is thought of as being simply wisdom.

"Yet God is something more than mind. If God were only mind, then we are worlds apart. If he were only mind, then our prayers would never reach him. God is power, force, intellect, but something else. Above all He is heart. He is love. Christ has taught power and intelligence, but He has also taught that He is love. There is no gift between us, no separating chasm, when He is love. Since given this view of God, a great question is settled.

"Some ask the question: 'Is it right to pray for personal blessings?' These wish some line to be drawn for things to be prayed for. Christ has made one restriction, that when we pray we shall say: 'God is our Father, then we may pour out our hearts; keep nothing back. Will God not be contented of our much speaking?' some ask. I ask a question of the fathers and mothers: 'Is it a burden when your children come and tell you all their troubles?' Is it not the delight of your hearts to have them do so? It shows that you are a power in their lives. There is a connection of love between you and your child. If it delights you, how much more does it delight the Father in Heaven to have His children on earth tell Him all their troubles and joys! Then be always prayerful. Let us remember this. In times of trouble come to Him. In times of joy, come to him; He is the author of both joy and trouble."

The pastor closed his discourse by saying that he came to Barre to do God's will both in the civic and social relationships of the city, but that there was one thing which he desired of the congregation. "I desire your prayers. If the prayers of this congregation ascend to God, all subsidiary things will come. There is no greater power to a minister than to know that the prayers of his congregation are behind him."

NATIVES LOST OVER 400 MEN.

In Engagements With Germans Between March 13 and April 26.

Berlin, May 7.—The latest news received from German East Africa completely contradicts the official announcement of February 2 that the insurrection had been suppressed. The Lokal Anzeiger's Dar-es-Salaam correspondent in a telegram gives reports of a series of engagements extending from March 13 to April 26, in which he says the natives lost over 400 men and the Germans 12.

SURPRISED GODDARDGraniteville Woodmen Knocked Knapp Out of Box*AND CAME NEAR WINNING*Booth Relieved Knapp and Stemmed the Batting Tide—Home Team Played Up-hill Game and Won

With three days' previous practice this spring, the Woodmen's team of ball tossers from Graniteville played Goddard seminary on the local campus Saturday afternoon and for seven innings gave Goddard the hardest tussle that she has had on the home grounds this season, though the seminary won out by a score of 12 to 9. In the third inning the hill batters went at Knapp like a whirlwind. Every man up put the wood to the ball and after they had pounded out five singles and a home run for a total of six scores, Coach Cannell stopped their making any more by sending Booth into the box to relieve Knapp. With Booth in the box, the visitors' streak of batting stopped and the tide was turned with no more scores.

Goddard made up for her hard luck, however, in her half of this inning. By some good hitting and a double steal by J. Berry and Booth, she got in five runs, making the score 5 to 6 in her favor. Goddard having made two runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings, and the Woodmen made two tallies in the fifth, making Goddard again in the lead by only one point. Goddard clinched the game in the seventh with three runs and also another in the eighth. In the Woodmen's last chance in the ninth, they squeaked in one more run. Connolly, after two men were out, rapped out a single, stole second and third and scored on a grounder to Smith, who threw wild to first. Jacobs pitched the first five innings of the game for the Woodmen and Comiskey threw the remainder.

The Goddard team felt no little anxiety for their games this week, when their only catcher, J. Berry, had his thumb on his right hand split open by a foul tip. He was able to catch out the game and though his thumb is badly injured it is not likely to keep him out of the next game.

"TOO MUCH SKILLEN."

Told Story of University of Vt.'s Defeat by Dartmouth.

Hanover, N. H., May 7.—Dartmouth Saturday defeated the university of Vermont in a game spoiled by the constant drizzle. Skellen was in the points for Dartmouth, and as usual pitched a masterly game, especially with non on bases. Campbell for Vermont also pitched good ball, but his support at critical moments was faulty.

SEN. DOLLIVER MAKES TROUBLETries to Check Agreement on the Rate Bill*BY CIRCULATING STORIES*Pure Food Bill Will Not Pass at This Session of Congress—Penrose Calls Tillman an "Ass" in the Senate.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—A disturbing effort has been made by Senator Dolliver to upset the agreement to the so-called "Allison" amendment, to which President Roosevelt gave his definite assent Friday. Senator Dolliver, who has exaggerated for his own purposes many statements made to him during the rate controversy, went into Senator Allison's sick-room Friday afternoon, and has since been industriously spreading the report that Senator Allison had repudiated the amendment to which his name has been given. The best informed belief is that Allison, with customary caution, has simply declined to commit himself to the amendment, but that he will probably offer it today. If he does not, Senator Fulton will probably offer it; it now proves that Senator Fulton was the original author of the amendment, which was then passed upon and approved by Senators Knox and Spooner. In any case, were Senator Dolliver's effort to succeed in getting the president to revoke his assent to the "Allison" amendment, it appears that the amendment will be carried. A number of the radical republicans, including Fulton and Hopkins, favor it; so that, strengthened by these additions, the conservatives hold a clear majority.

The serious charge has been spread apparently at the instigation of Senator Dolliver, that Senator Allison's name has been attached to the new amendment without his having any knowledge of it. This is not true. Senator Allison himself told the amendment to the president a week ago, at which time the president first expressed his approval of it. For the last few days Senator Allison has been ill, but it has been assumed that he would probably offer the amendment when he returned.

The probability grows daily that in spite of all promises, the pure food bill will not pass the House at this session. Representatives whose constituents are interested in the bill and eager for its passage have found it advisable within the past two days to write letters home to the effect that they now have little hope that the bill will become a law this year. How much likelihood there is of the bill being passed at the short session can be easily figured out from the past inactive performances of other short sessions.

It is the old story of affected interests. Congressmen who are on the inside still say naively that "the bill is on the calendar," and they see "no reason why it should not be passed." But when pressed more closely they admit that the past session of the bill at this session is unlikely. Congressman Mann of Chicago recently declined to discuss the matter with your correspondent, adding the
